

NOTICE OF UPCOMING VACANCIES

U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit Advisory Committee on Admissions and Grievances

The U.S. Court of Appeals will be filling vacancies on its Advisory Committee on Admissions and Grievances. The court is particularly interested in receiving applications from attorneys who are familiar with the District of Columbia Code of Professional Responsibility either by reason of service on the D.C. Board on Professional Responsibility or its hearing committees. Applications from attorneys having other practice experience in professional ethics are also welcome.

The Advisory Committee on Admissions and Grievances assists the court with matters related to applications for admission to the court's bar and complaints of attorney misconduct or neglect. The Committee is comprised of six members who serve three-year terms. Members are eligible for appointment to an additional term of three years at the completion of the first term.

Attorneys interested in being considered for an appointment to the Advisory Committee on Admissions and Grievances should submit a resume to the D.C. Circuit Executive's Office by October 20, 2006. Applications should be sent to:

Jill C. Sayenga, Circuit Executive
